Why compost at home?

Composting at home is a cheap, natural process that converts kitchen, garden and other household waste into a valuable, nutrient rich, compost.

Using a compost bin is easy and can reduce the amount of waste put into your household bin by a third.

The key to good compost is getting the mix right. To produce good quality compost add equal amounts of greens and browns to your bin.

Greens are soft, moist, nitrogen rich waste materials and browns are dry, fibrous, carbon rich waste materials.

Greens include:

Tea bags, fruit scraps, vegetable peelings, grass clippings, cut flowers, coffee grounds, young annual weeds.

Browns include:

Egg shells, cardboard including toilet and kitchen roll tubes, newspaper, vegetarian pet bedding, shredded confidential documents, vacuum bag contents.

Compost can be used for:

- improving your garden soil
- mulching flowerbeds
- replenishing pots
- container gardening
- feeding your lawn
- making potting mix
